

50 SOMETHING

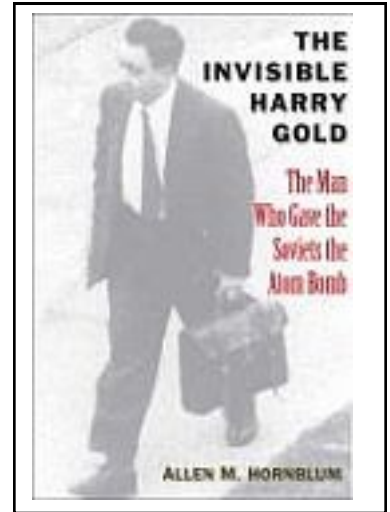

PRESENTS

ALLEN M. HORNBLUM

If you can imagine a man living around Kindred Street and Castor Avenue, in Northeast Philadelphia, as a spy who was known throughout the world, you have a great imagination.. but it is true.

Allen Hornblum, author of "The Invisible Harry Gold: The Man Who Gave the Soviets the Atom Bomb" mesmerized the crowd back on May 14, at the Historical Society of Frankfort, as he spun the tale of an ordinary man who did a very bad thing. He was a Philadelphia guy who got himself into international espionage in the thirties when he was recruited by the Soviets. He was so unassuming; you would never suspect he was a key player in the plot to steal secrets of the Atomic Bomb by the Soviet Union.

Don't pass up this opportunity to see Allen Hornblum in person. He tells a great story!
